BY D.C. HARVILL
The Bay St. Louis/Waveland School Board ended weeks of speculation Thursday night when it voted to renew the contract of Superintendent Roger Oge.

With a standing-room-only crowd present in the board room at Bay Senior High School, the vote on the renewal went four to one, with member Linda Penrose voting in opposition. Charles Benvenuti, an appointed member representing Bay St. Louis, made the motion to renew the contract and it was seconded by Bay St. Louis member Willie Bradley.

The renewal comes at the end of a contract Oge entered three years ago. The new contract is for one year.

Board President Betty Diboll, after the vote, encouraged the board members and school patrons to pull together whether or not they supported the renewal.

"We can have the best school system in the state of Mississippi," she said.

"I'm very pleased they renewed the contract. I look forward to working with the board and the public over the next year, and continuing the work we've begun," the superintendent said Friday.

He did not offer a reason for the difference in length of the two contracts.

In other business the board decided to set up a meeting with the Hancock County Board of Education to discuss school consolidation. The meeting will be held at the convenience of the board members.

In the mean time, the municipal school board is proceeding with the addition of classrooms at Bay Senior High, that are scheduled for completion in time for the 1989-90 school term.

"Long overdue" work along State Street to start in February

BY D.C. HARVILL
One of the biggest, and most long-enduring, thorns in the side of Bay St. Louis' pride soon may be remedied with the completion of a project approved by the city council Tuesday night.

The three members currently seated, John Wilkerson, Charles Johnson and James Thriffley, all voted for the plan to improve drainage in the 400 and 500 blocks of State Street.

The two-block section of the street is subject to serious flooding even with moderate rainfall. When inspected Friday morning, after only a half-inch of rain overnight, large sections of the roadway were covered with standing water.

The plan also calls for the street to be resurfaced.

Earlier this year, the State Street project was included in a proposal for a Community

Block Development Grant that the city subsequently did not receive.

At the time the city submitted the proposal, matching funds required for the grant were earmarked for the work to State Street in the event the grant was not received.

According to the plan, the street will be regraded so water will flow from Dunbar westward to a subsurface drain which will then empty into a large ditch farther down the street. The approximately 1,200 feet of roadway between Dunbar and DeMontluzin Streets then will be totally resurfaced.

"We've tried to get something done about the problem for years and years, administration after administration. There are some spots in the street that children could swim in. When we had a storm we couldn't even get out our front doors," said Geraldine Lang, president of Concerned Citizens and a resident of the street.

"We are very grateful to Bay St. Louis for trying to correct this problem. Hopefully, it will be done in a way that will last, and we don't have to be ashamed to live on this street. It has been terrible," Lang said.

"I'm glad they've decided to do it. It's long overdue. It should be a tremendous incentive to the residents to put some effort into improving their property," said Robert Kane of John McDonald Real Estate, owners of numerous rental houses on the street.

According to Mayor Victor Frankiewicz, the work, beginning in mid-February, should be completed for between $40 and $50 thousand.

Merchants association to begin poster sales

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Bay St. Louis Merchants Association will begin selling its first-ever Mardi Gras poster Monday.

The poster, in forest green on peach paper, was designed by Bay St. Louis artist Barbara Brodtmann at the request of the association, stated the group's president, Jim Thompson.

All of the posters are numbered and signed by the artist. The first 200 of them have an addition, a gold foil disk imprinted with the official seal of the city of Bay St. Louis.

Posters with the city seal will sell for $15 each, with the remainder being sold for $10. Thompson said the association, a non-profit group, plans to use the proceeds for beautification of Main Street.

Although the traditional Mardi Gras colors are green, purple and gold, the association chose colors that instead would appeal to people likely to purchase the poster and have it framed.

"We chose peach-colored paper because peach and forest green are the big decorating colors this year. We felt that more people would hang this in their homes," Thompson explained.

The poster, which is available from any merchants association member, is also an effort to promote local artists. In addition to being available at businesses, it will be sold at the block party the group is sponsoring on Beach Boulevard and Main Street immediately following the Krewe of Real People parade on Mardi Gras Day.

Thompson said the decision to have the poster designed and printed occurred too close to Mardi Gras to hold a competition for the design, but a contest is planned next year.

In addition, the association has decided to open a competition for a poster for the annual Beachfront Festival this summer rather than commissioning a design.

"We want to give local artists a lot more exposure," said Thompson, who has recently started to provide a limited amount of hanging space in the business he owns with his wife, Ruth's Bakery.

Further details on that competition will be released later, but at this point the merchants association is planning to use the proceeds from contest entry fees for one of its projects, Thompson said.

Past projects have included, in addition to the Beachfront Festival, several free concerts in City Park, several merchants open houses and the Christmas caroling downtown.

Krewe of Kids accepting entries

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Krewe of Kids is now accepting applications for king and queen.

The royalty will be selected by a random drawing. Entries should be sent to Lisa Coward at 105 Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis, MS, 39520, by Jan. 27.

Coward said entries should include the child's name, age, sex and telephone number.

The royalty will ride in the Krewe of Kids Parade in Cedar Point in Feb. 4.

Any child may participate in the parade. Participants are asked to wear costumes and bring their own beads. They may walk or ride bicycles or wagons, but no motorized vehicles are allowed.

More than 300 children participated last year, Coward stated.

The parade will begin at 1 p.m. at North Bay Elementary School and will proceed down Dunbar to Boardman Avenue, down Boardman to B Street, from B Street to Leonhard, from Leonhard to Dunbar and back to North Bay.

Sheriff's staff seeks former sheriffs' photos

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Sheriff's Department is still searching for photos of some of the county's former sheriffs.

Several have already been obtained and copied and are being displayed in the reception section of the sheriff's office.

The names of the former sheriffs have been researched back to 1866 by Charles Gottschalk, a former county election commissioner.

No records are available prior to 1866 due to the destruction of the courthouse by fire at that time. However, Harrison County records may provide some indication of who served as sheriff prior to 1866.

The project originated about a year ago, Sheriff Ronald Peterson said, and is being headed by Deputy James Ladner, to whom Peterson gives credit for the idea.

Most of the sources for older photographs have been surviving relatives, Peterson said.

Those whose photos are still needed, listed with the dates they were in office, include Joseph C. Jones, 1928-1931; Joseph V. Bontemps, 1924-1927; James W. Vairin, 1916-1919; A.J. Carver, 1908-1911; Joseph L. Caseneuve, 1900-1903; Francis J. Ladner, 1896-1899; Joseph F. Caseneuve, 1884-1895; David Maye, 1867 and 1880-1883; George W. Johnston, 1876-1879; John J. Saucier, 1872-1875; D.C. Stanley, 1868-1871; and John M. Poiteviant, 1866.

One former sheriff whose photo has not been obtained, Sylvan J. Ladner Jr., is still living locally and Peterson said that arrangements to photograph Ladner will be made.

Pass honors Stanford Test high scorers

The Pass Christian Public School District takes great pride in recognition of outstanding academic performance. The Stanford Achievement Test, a national standardized test, was given in April 1988 to all students in grades 1-11. Recognition was given to students who scored at the 98th percentile or better on any one major subtest: reading, mathematics, language arts, science or social studies. Since the 50th percentile is the national average score, students scoring at the 98th percentile are at a level far above the average.

On Tuesday night, Jan. 10, in the multi-purpose building at Pass Christian Elementary School, the School Board of Trustees' Certificates of Achievement were presented to each student by Superintendent of Education LeRoy Liza-na, Assistant Superintendent of Education Dr. Lorraine Broome, and School Board President Colonel Lawrence Roberts.

Tax counseling available for older citizens

Need help filing your federal and state income tax returns? A free counseling service provided by the AARP Tax-Aide Program is available each Wednesday from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., starting Feb. 8 through April 12 at the Bay St. Louis Public Library, 312 Hwy. 90. Volunteer counselors, trained by the Internal Revenue Service, will fill out the various forms and explain special benefits for older citizens.

Bring copies of your 1987 income tax returns and forms and materials for this year. Tax-Aide is a public service program of the American Association of Retired Persons in cooperation with the IRS.

Q. Which president served in the Mississippi Army National Guard?

A. Trick question. Jefferson Davis, who served as president of the Confederacy, was a Mississippi Militiaman, famous for his victory at the Battle of Buena Vista, Mexico.

'88 had fewer highway deaths

A year end report of traffic deaths compiled by the Mississippi Highway Patrol shows 74 fewer people died in motor vehicle crashes in Mississippi in 1988 compared to 1987.

Col. David R. Huggins, Highway Patrol chief, attributed the decrease in part to Operation Saturation, a massive statewide enforcement effort designed to locate and remove drunken and drugged drivers from the highways.

"Many drinking drivers are familiar with Operation Saturation because when 7,364 of them came through our sobriety checkpoints they were arrested and charged with driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol (DUI)," Huggins said.

"The highways were made safer by this effort which resulted in 14 percent fewer people dying on roads under the patrol's jurisdiction," he added.

Seven people died in motor vehicle crashes during the 78-hour New Year's observance that began at 6 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 30, 1988, and ended at midnight on Monday, Jan. 2, 1989.

Of the seven fatalities, three occurred on Highway Patrol roads, three people died in crashes taking place on city streets, and one death occurred on a county road. Two of the seven people killed were pedestrians. Ten people were killed in motor vehicle crashes during the 1988 New Year's observance.

The Highway Patrol made 160 DUI arrests during the weekend, compared to 85 during the 1988 New Year's observance.

"Fewer people dying in 1988 compared to those being killed in 1987 presents a real challenge for the men and women of the patrol. Stepped up enforcement produced a lower death count. We know it works so we will continue what we've been doing and perhaps increase our Operation Saturation details," Huggins added.

Deaths resulting from motor vehicle crashes that occurred in 1988 will be added to the year end total until Jan. 15.

Tree Planting Week slated February 10-17

Mississippi's 15th Tree Planting Week has been set for Feb. 10-17, according to Hildon Shaw, chairman of Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District. This is the primary agency sponsoring the Tree Planting Week for Hancock County.

Trees will be given away at the Mississippi Forestry Commission office in Bay St. Louis on Dunbar Ave and at the Soil Conservation Service office on Hwy. 603 in Kila on Feb. 8-9 from 8 a.m. to noon at the Forestry Commission and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Soil Conservation Service both days. Please make note of these times and places for your trees. Trees will be given away on first come first served basis. A limit will be set on trees per household because of the number of trees available to the public.

A variety of trees will be included in this year's giveaway; they include green ash, cypress, sycamore, autumn olive and persimmon. Each location will have a limited number of trees.

Since 1975, Tree Planting Week has been an annual event, with all 52 counties participating. In 1988 Hancock County SWCD along with Mississippi Forestry Commission and Hancock County Cooperative Extension Service made contact with over 1,500 children from 11 schools in this area. A total of 200,000 trees were planted during Tree Planting Week in Hancock County by all the agencies concerned. With more than five million trees being planted all over the state during this observance.

Three Planting Week is a good time for the Mississippi landowners to check the need of their timberlands and make plans for a forestry program that will benefit them in the future. Also, it is perfect time for the individual homeowner to enhance the beauty of his home-site with these lovely trees.

Anyone wishing to have a tree planted in observance of Arbor Day by the agencies involved, please contact either the Soil Conservation Service at 255-3225 or Mississippi Forestry Commission 467-4728 for an appointment. Smokey the Bear and Sammy Soil will be available upon request.

"Let's make Hancock County more beautiful. Plant trees for the future," said Shaw.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

We were approached a few days ago by a resident wanting to know what has happened to lights being placed along U.S.-90 in Bay St. Louis.

There has been much talk about lights being placed along U.S.-90, but we haven't seen any lights in place as yet.

To light up the highway would be a very good move according to people I have talked to.

Many things are talked about, yet they never seem to become a reality.

Tuesday will again be an election day for the qualified electors of the city of Bay St. Louis.

At stake will be a councilman-at-large seat with two candidates left from a field of five.

We realize there was some 30% of the qualified electors casting a ballot last Tuesday and we would like to see an increase in that number.

Remember the polls are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Some of you may not realize it, but Hancock County now has a cruelty to animals investigator.

Deputy Harold Heine assumed the position two months ago and has already been busy with his new task, according to Thyla Rogers, president of the Humane Society.

Heine has a sheriff's department radio for his vehicle in order to keep in close contact with the office.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson said his office receives quite a few cruelty to animals complaints and that was the reason the position was created.

Heine is a part-time deputy and does a lot of volunteer work for the Humane Society, Peterson stated.

Mardi Gras is almost here as the Krewe of Nereids and Eros will roll along U.S.-90 next Sunday at 2 p.m.

The Krewe of Hancock truck parade will also follow the annual event and groups wishing to participate with floats or marching units can register to be in the parade.

Persons interested can contact Delores Richmond, at 467-7033.

The folks who participate in the Mardi Gras parade always seem to get a big enjoyment out of the adventure.

Just think, this will be the 23rd annual parade by the Krewe of Nereids, it seems it was only a few years ago the first floats rolled down the streets of Waveland.

When I was a youngster, my mother, who was from New Orleans, would always take me and three brothers to the city on the train for Mardi Gras Day.

We would all be wearing costumes she made for us and it was an outing we always looked forward to.

Train service was good in those times as we would board one at Nicholson Avenue and it would take us to the foot of Canal Street in New Orleans.

While on the subject of parades, the annual Krewe of Kids parade in the Cedar Point area is preparing for its parade on February 4.

Applications are now being accepted for king and queen and the royalty will be drawn at random.

Entries can be sent to Lisa Coward, 105 Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis, by Jan. 27.

This is a special parade as it involves youngsters in costume and they may walk or ride bicycles and wagons, but no motorized vehicles are allowed.

We will be giving you some more information later on the Krewe of Kids parade.

You can make a difference

Did you know that your participation in the democratic process can make a difference?

Involvement in the affairs of government does not have to end when you walk out of a voting booth. Communicating with your congressman and legislator is a very effective means of having your voice heard by those who enact the laws that govern our lives.

The 1989 legislative session is into its second full week, and lawmakers are taking up some very important issues...issues that will make a difference in your life. Educate yourself on the pros and cons of the different concerns scheduled to be voted on by the Legislature; inform that individual elected to represent your interests in state government of your views; ask him how he is going to vote and why.

The principles behind our government encourage participation by the electorate. However, it seems that many ignore the opportunities offered by the democratic form of government.

After all, it's a government of the people, by the people, and for the people.

Happiness Is A Warm Pet

All animals need shelter from cold, wet weather. The best way to protect pets is to keep them indoors. If animals are not allowed inside the home, alternate shelter such as a wind- and water-proof dog house (with the floor off the ground and plenty of warm, dry bedding) or access to the garage, should be provided.

If pets are kept outdoors, regularly check water bowls to break the ice or refill as necessary. Ceramic bowls are recommended, as pets' tongues may stick to metal bowls in very cold weather.

Increase the amount you are feeding your outdoor pets, who need more calories in the winter to produce body heat. If they are exercising less, indoor dogs and cats may need fewer calories to avoid gaining weight.

Pets are attracted to the sweet taste and smell of anti-freeze. Be aware that the green liquid is a deadly poison and commonly found in garages and along curbs.

Seeking shelter and warmth, many cats have been seriously injured by radiator fan blades after crawling up under the engine. On cold mornings, open the hood of your car or slap it noisily to startle any animal sleeping there.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Identity of 'Mr. X' will remain a mystery

A quarter of a century after the slaying of three civil rights workers in Neshoba County, the great mystery of that sensational story remains: Who was "Mr. X"?

He was the secret informant who supplied the key tip that led the FBI to unearth the bodies of the three murdered men from a farm pond dam six miles southwest of Philadelphia.

Discovery of the bodies of Michael Schwerner, James Earl Ray and Andrew Goodman under some 12 feet of red Neshoba soil 44 days after they had been slain on a lonely Neshoba County back road was the key development which enabled the FBI to crack the case.

"We were having lots of difficulty getting anywhere in the investigation, but once the bodies were found, the pendulum started swinging in the other direction," says Roy K. Moore, who was the special agent in charge of the Jackson FBI office in 1964.

Moore, now retired and living in Brandon, swears that he never knew, "and I don't know to this minute" who was the FBI's informant.

Mr. X is how the late journalist and author Don Whitehead identified the informant in his 1970 book, Attack on Terror: The FBI Against the Ku Klux Klan in Mississippi.

Whitehead, who had previously written the book, The FBI Story, a highly favorable treatment of the bureau, was given access to FBI files of the Neshoba case in order to write Attack on Terror.

But so closely guarded was the identity of Mr. X that not even Whitehead was given the name of the informant.

Only one man alive, other than possibly the informant himself, may know for certain the identity of the person who disclosed where to find the bodies of Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney.

He is Joe Sullivan, a huge Irishman from Wisconsin who was an FBI inspector and ace trouble-shooter in 1964. Sullivan was sent by J. Edgar Hoover to take charge of the field investigation of the Neshoba case shortly after the disappearance of the three civil rights workers June 21, 1964.

Sullivan, according to the account in Whitehead's book was the one FBI agent to whom the mystery source had given the information of where the bodies were buried.

During the course of my covering the Neshoba case from 1964 through the federal court trials at Meridian in October, 1967, Sullivan and I had become personal friends, sharing a few drinks and meals together. Now retired from the FBI, the 72-year-old Sullivan lives alone (his wife is dead) in a Manhattan, N.Y., condominium.

Last week, I renewed acquaintances with Sullivan by telephone. "By the way, Joe, when are you going to tell me who the informant was in the Neshoba case?" I said.

"Not until they put me in a box, and that piece of information will go with me," the big amiable Irishman chuckled.

The powerful new movie, "Mississippi Burning," which mixes fact and fiction in a docudrama of the Neshoba case is focusing tremendous national attention on that tragic episode and the entire 60s civil rights era in Mississippi.

Neshoba becomes Jessup County in the movie. "Mississippi Burning" provides a novel new candidate for Mr. X. In fact, in the movie version it is not a "Mr." but a "Mrs." namely the wife of the Jessup County deputy sheriff who is charged as one of the conspirators in the slaying.

In real life, then-Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price of Neshoba County was one of the seven men convicted in connection with the slayings under a post-Civil War federal civil rights law.

According to the street talk around Philadelphia back in the late 60s Mr. X was paid $30,000 by the FBI for furnishing the information that led to the discovery of the bodies of the three civil rights workers.

This was never verified. And

The President's Column

Americans are keepers of the miracle of freedom

By outgoing President Ronald Reagan

Over the years, I have greatly enjoyed this opportunity to report on the week's events here in Washington.

But after witnessing the inauguration of George Bush as President, Nancy and I will head back to the ranch. We go with full hearts—with best wishes for George and Barbara and with gratitude to all of you. It has been a privilege to serve the people and the nation we have always loved—and love so much today.

It is difficult, of course, to put all the events of eight busy, tumultuous years in perspective; in fact, that is best left to the impartial judgment of history.

But as I look back over these columns, I cannot help but think about how often at moments of accomplishment and triumph, as well as crisis and heartbreak, we communicated in this way: a President giving his accounting to those—under our system of government—to whom he is accountable. We have shared a great deal together; for me, it has been a special relationship. Believe me, it will never seem the same. I will miss writing for you.

But you know, somehow messages of farewell, leave-taking and nostalgia do not quite capture my mood today. Do not get me wrong, we have had great years and done much together: the economy is booming, long-festering social problems like drugs, crime and a decline in our educational standards are being dealt with, and for the first time in the post-war era, the Soviet menace shows some signs of relenting.

This last development is, of course, so heartening to those of us who have lived through all the brooding terrors of the post-war era.

We are prayerful and hopeful—hopeful that the next generation of Americans will not have to contend as we did with the nightmares of nuclear terror and totalitarian expansionism.

You now, shortly after World War II and the struggle against Nazi Germany, Winston Churchill looked with grave concern and sadness at a world that evolved so quickly, as he put it, from "Triumph and Tragedy."

But then as he began to detect the vigor and resolve of America against the Soviet menace and for freedom in Europe and everywhere in the world—a vigor and resolve shared equally by an American President and an American Congress of different political parties—he grew hopeful and grateful for this unselfish, bipartisan unity.

There is a story I want to tell you today about a meeting Churchill had with a group of American journalists in 1952 at a time when all the troubles of the cold war, including the hardship of morally and militarily re-arming the West, were keenly felt. His friend and physician, Lord Moran, recorded Churchill's appraisal of American leadership.

"What other nation in history," Churchill asked, "when it became supremely powerful, has had no thought of territorial aggrandizement, no ambition but to use its resources for the good of the world? I marvel at America's altruism, her sublime disinterestedness."

"All at once I realized," Lord Moran wrote, "Winston was in tears, his eyes were red, his voice faltered. He was deeply moved."

Generous words, honest emotion from a great world leader; and now, more than a quarter century later, as the decade of the eighties comes to a close, there is hope that the generosity and resolve that Churchill saw in the American people is at last paying an historic dividend—the possibility of a new time in human history when all the problems that so haunted the post-war world give way to peace and an expansion of freedom.

So you can see why, to me, the story of these last eight years and this Presidency goes far beyond any personal concerns; it is a continuation really of a far larger story, a story of a people and a cause, a cause that from our earliest beginnings has defined us as a nation and given purpose to our national existence.

The hope of human freedom—the quest for it, the achievement of it—is the American saga. And I have often recalled one group of early settlers making a treacherous crossing of the Atlantic on a small ship when their leader, a minister, noted that perhaps their venture would fail and they would become a byword, a footnote to history, but perhaps, too, with God's help, they might also found a new world, a city upon a hill, a light unto the nations.

Those worlds and that destiny beckon to us still. Whether we seek it or not, whether we like it or not, we Americans are keepers of the miracle; we are asked to be guardians of a place to come to, a place to start again, a place to live in the dignity God means for His children. May it ever be so.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reorganize government to insure efficiency

To the Editor:

Reorganization of state government is necessary to insure efficiency and good management of tax dollars.

The Executive Reorganization Plan proposes 11 tightly-run departments and provides for Senate confirmation of those individuals chosen to run these agencies, for the appointment of advisory boards for public input, and with an expressed requirement that the governor's office be accountable for the actions and errors of subordinates.

Under our present system, many times boards and commissions stand between agencies and the Governor and the Legislature. Since appointed boards cannot be held accountable as can elected officials, reorganization will give the Legislature more oversight over who is appointed and what happens inside these agencies.

With some fine tuning, the reorganization plan should result in enhanced services, dollar savings, and more accountable and responsive department directors.

Sincerely yours,
Emory F. McNeil

While in the Gulf Coast area, I try to plan my travel so that I get into the Bay St. Louis and Waveland area for meal time, whether it be for lunch or dinner because I have found that the restaurants in this area are the best in price, quality and plain good cooking.

I love good seafood and Cajun/Creole foods, and it seems that it is best in the Bay St. Louis/Waveland area. Especially in one particular restaurant which I will not name for the sake of giving the place undue publicity. However, I was greatly disappointed to see the demise of so many fine restaurants along the Gulf Coast area reaching into the Bay St. Louis/Waveland area.

I asked several people in the food business to find out just what is happening to all the fine restaurants that used to be in Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

The standard answer was that for some unknown reason people are not lending support to these fine restaurants, and one by one they are closing down. They did not blame the economy as being the number one factor, although it was given as one of the reasons.

It seems that most people are looking for cheap meals if there is such a thing (you only get what you pay for).

Get what you pay for). They fail to realize what it takes to operate a good restaurant. Food supplies are escalating in cost, utilities are way out of sight for commercial establishments. In fact, one restaurant owner I was talking to showed me the electric bill and I was astounded. The bill for electricity was equal to one fourth of the monthly gross sales; then when you deduct the cost of food supplies, other utility costs, labor, insurance, etc., the place was actually operating in the red.

I asked why they are taking this loss, and the answer was that they are hoping things will pick up and business will get better. These people have invested their life's savings to give the general public something good for their money. However, it won't be long and these people too will have to close their doors and go out of business because of the lack of patronage.

People of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, I implore you to wake up. You are about to lose ~~something that cannot be~~ replaced except by fast food establishments. No longer will you be able to stop at your favorite eatery and order fresh boiled crawfish and other delicious seafood plates, which is the main reason I stop at these places, to break the monotony of fast foods.

When you decide to take the family out for lunch or dinner, you are going to have no choice but to go to east or west and go to a place where the prices are outrageous for the average pocket book, and you're going to leave your table still hungry. I know, I experienced it.

Your local restaurants provide jobs, pay taxes and contribute to charitable causes that would otherwise depend on government handouts to help people. You have the ball in your hands, you run with the ball or lose it and you lose the game. True, you have some restaurants where the food is terrible. But you have some where the food is as good or better than your more expensive restaurants in other close by locals, and you get more than your money's worth.

I am one of many travelers who pass through your area several times a year and I will still stop and spend my money in your towns. But if the trend keeps up, I for one will be bypassing your towns and doing my business elsewhere. I usually spend in the neighborhood of $200 to $300 when I stay over in your towns for a day or so. You multiply this by several hundred people a year who do the same as I do, and you will see that we contribute heavily to your local economy, by eating in your restaurants, shopping in your stores and staying at your motels/hotels. You let your town turn into a ghost town and you, the local people, will be the loser. And in a sad way, I'll be losing something, too.

I hope that you will take the ball and win the game, for my sake, but moreso for your sake.

A frequent visitor,
Walter Pawlowski

By Dena Bisnette

Have you noticed how much faster a building deteriorates when there's nobody in it?

It's an odd thought that you can take a building, fill it for 30 years with a family, the usual assortment of children and pets, friends coming and going and all their paraphernalia. The place will look lived-in and there will be a lot of little minor things going wrong, like a toilet paper holder that no longer has the little bar to hold the paper or a loose hinge on a cabinet door.

Unless there's a fire or another unforeseen act of God, like a major invasion of termites or a bad hurricane, nobody will mind the little things and no big things will happen. Once in a while a roof will need a little work or the culvert at the end of the drive will rust out and fall in, but that's about it.

You take the same structurally sound house and empty it. Leave all the things there that you want, or don't leave anything, but don't have people there. Have somebody come by and take care of maintenance.

The darned thing will still deteriorate faster. I got this bit of wisdom from somebody who was much older than I am, and who lived in the country, which is a good place to hunt if you want to find common sense today. How do you think those old folks lived so long in such sparsely populated communities?

The same holds true for a business building. There's no 24-hour traffic; no one there at night or on weekends. That seems to be okay as long as somebody uses the place. Now close it. The longer it's closed, the more work the next occupant will have to do.

My husband Joe and I took a drive up to Covington County this past weekend to see my maternal grandmother, who will move to Florida soon. She is currently staying with an aunt of mine in a farming community called Williamsburg.

There are several buildings like the ones I have described in the Williamsburg area, and I have been watching them go downhill for the past few years. Some were lovely houses once, but now look as if they are only fit for habitation by cats, and might fall over if something as heavy as a cow leaned against one of the walls.

My grandmother, who has given me her name and a lot of interesting visits over the past few years, told me something recently that made me wonder if people aren't an awful lot like old buildings.

She was explaining to me that living eight miles from a small town and even farther from a place of any size is, to put it less politely than she did, boring her to death. When she returns to Florida, she will live in the same apartment building with a close friend and near two more. They "always find somewhere to go or things to do" when they are together.

Grandma is relatively isolated where she is and sees only my aunt and uncle most of the time.

I have known a number of older people who have told me to stay active and around others as long as I can. One told me that she had continued to work well into her seventies so she wouldn't "rust out and die."

Another recently said she was not particularly happy with some of the people she associates with because "all they ever do is sit around and play bridge. Bridge is fine, but I don't want to be an old lady." She volunteered her age. She's 72 and never stops. She goes a bit more slowly, but she goes.

Then I walk into a nursing home, and find I can quickly tell who has had visitors recently and who sees only the other patients. The ones who interact with other people seem so much more alive.

I don't need to read a bunch of scientific information on this because I see the results all around me, and I like a lot of what I see.

I think these three ladies have a wonderful lesson for all of us. Stay active as long as you can. Let other people continue to be a part of your life. Your life will be longer.

Your "building" won't deteriorate faster and be fit only for habitation by cats, though it might look lived in.

UNO to offer course on starting own business

A non-credit course on 'Starting Your Own Business: How to Plan for Success' will be conducted at the University of New Orleans, Feb. 27 through March 22. The eight-session course will be on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Instructors for the course are Kenneth J. Lacho, UNO professor of management and small-business consultant, and Midge Pilney, CPA, assistant vice president, Hibernia National Bank.

The program, designed for the new entrepreneur or the entrepreneur considering expansion, will provide hands-on training in writing a business plan. Participants will learn how to define their businesses and strategies, evaluate their potential as entrepreneurs, identify personal resources, estimate market potential, choose the best location, locate sources of money, prepare a successful loan package and where to go for help.

Fee for the course is $125. For more information, call the UNO Metropolitan College, (504) 523-6859.

My wife Peggy, my sons Tommy and Michael, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank the people who supported, voted for and helped me make my first primary a success.

We would also like to thank all the people who voted in the primary. This shows that there is a genuine concern for the future of Bay St. Louis.

My family and I ask that all registered voters in Bay St. Louis please vote Tuesday, January 24, to help assure a brighter future for our community.

Avoiding death traps

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

The room was big, but apparently not big enough. Of all the people present, only one was smoking far to the rear. I had been in that same room many times and someone had been smoking in the rear at times. This time, however, it was more sickening than usual.

Perhaps it was my subconscious reaction to the previous day's news that second-hand smoke, or passive smoking, is far deadlier than had been proven heretofore. In fact, thousands of fatal heart attacks have been traced directly to passive smoking.

I moved out of the room a full 15 minutes sooner than I had intended to, feeling as I have never felt before that I was under attack. Someone was invading my health with a deadly poison, attempting to put me under the ground before my body wears out.

Who are those thousands who die each year from passive smoking? How many untold thousands of others die annually from other diseases provoked by passive smoking: emphysema, cancer? Who is to say that I won't be in that number this year or the next?

It is nothing new to observe that smokers have found an efficient death trap, have stepped into it and are willingly remaining within its jaws. What is new is that they are dragging non-smokers into the same death trap with deadly efficiency.

Frankly, I find it sickening, galling and downright scary. When I am about to be consigned to the grave, I do not want the cause of death to be, "caught in a death trap laid by thoughtless, careless smokers who killed themselves and hundreds of others."

People usually mean well in what they do, even if they are in the process of killing themselves and, wittingly or unwittingly, taking others along for the ride. However, their good intentions are simply not enough to satisfy us who want to live longer.

The most serious disadvantage in trying to avoid the death trap of involuntary, or passive, smoking is that there is often no place to run, unless you are in the great outdoors. Smoke has an insidious way of finding you wherever you happen to be.

On the other hand, there are death traps which are more avoidable than nicotine vapor because there is no second-hand or passive exposure. Still, in their own way, some of them are veritable mine fields which surround our whole sphere of operation.

How do we avoid the dread highway death traps set by alcohol and other drugs which account for some 26,000 deaths annually? Obviously, we have to drive very defensively and remain alert.

But we need a lucky bounce here and there in addition to defensiveness and alertness to deliver us from some of the random death traps laid by alcohol abuse: 50 percent of all murders; over 1/3 of all violent crimes; third-leading killer among the major diseases, and number-one killer by causing other diseases.

Some death traps are laid with the greatest kindness and even with the deepest love. Further, they are disguised to appear far from deadly; in fact, most appetizing, desirable and pleasing.

These are the death traps whose aroma drives you insane, whose appearance causes you to salivate and whose taste can easily lead you to hurt yourself with second and third helpings.

Unfortunately, "If it is good to you, it is not good for you," is an old truism which haunts us when we venture into the culinary world of good eating. With cholesterol as the base, these death traps sport jaws of heart disease, cancer, diabetes and hypertension.

We must avoid death traps because our whole thrust as humans, as Christians is to live a life of Jesus to the full.

Kidney Foundation sponsors chili cookoff

The National Kidney Foundation of Mississippi is calling all chili cooks to participate in the Fourth Annual Chili Cook-Off at the Dixie National Western Festival in Jackson at the Mississippi Trademart on the Fairgrounds on Saturday, Feb. 11.

Scrooge's Restaurant is sponsoring this fun-filled event with the proceeds going to benefit the National Kidney Foundation of Mississippi's programs of research, patient services, public and professional education, community services and organ donation.

Cooks will begin cooking at 9 a.m. Saturday and sampling will begin at 11 a.m. This is not a sanctioned event so "anything goes" with chili ingredients. This is a great opportunity for all cooks who turn out a great bowl of chili to compete for the prizes.

There will be two basic categories: Restaurant/Commercial Division and Individual/Group Division. A "Miss Hot Chili Pepper Contest" will help spice up the day.

If you are interested in cooking up some chili, contact the Kidney Foundation in Jackson at 981-3611 or write P.O. Box 55802, Jackson, MS 39216 for entry forms and additional information.

By Mississippi Reporting Service

Senate rejects Mabus reorganization plan

Gov. Ray Mabus' government reorganization drive suffered a severe blow this week when the Mississippi Senate scuttled major sections and passed a drastically weakened version of the plan.

The upper chamber debated seven and a half hours on the issue Thursday with Sen. Gene Taylor joining the majority in voting for the final bill.

On a much closer vote, Sen. Margaret Wootsie Tate voted against keeping the present personnel board system intact but supported reorganizing it along guidelines set down by Mabus.

Rep. J. P. Compretta, meanwhile, was among a host of House members voting to increase retirement benefits for state employees.

The retirement bill, if OK'd by the Senate, will mean a five percent increase in benefits effective July 1.

Increased contributions from participants will pay all but $20 million of the $54 million cost of the increased benefits. The state will pay $13 million and local governments and school districts will be asked for another $7 million of the total.

The Senate reorganization vote was a clear rejection of Mabus' goal of consolidating jected to save $31.9 million. By the time the bill reached the Senate floor it only trimmed the number of state agencies from more than 100 to 88 and would have saved an estimated $8.7 dozens of state agencies and giving more oversight authority to the governor's office.

Mabus' original plan was pro-million. The final version is expected to save $3 million.

Sen. Jack Gordon, of Okolona, said the Senate took out the parts of the reorganization plan that merely gave the governor more power and left in those provisions that actually saved money.

The House is expected to consider a different version of Mabus' reorganization plan this coming week.

Senate
SB 2148. The state Senate voted 46-5 for a greatly reduced plan to reorganize state government. The plan creates five major departments and will reportedly save $3 million. Tate, yes; Taylor, yes.

Substitute for Amendment 12 to SB 2148. The Senate decided to delete the state Personnel Board along from Gov. Mabus' reorganization plan by a vote of 27-26, with Lt. Gov. Brad Dye casting the deciding vote. A yes vote is to delete the board from Mabus' plan. Tate, no; Taylor, no.

House
HB 301. This bill would improve state employee benefits by about 5 percent. The state pays $13 million of the $54 million cost, local governments and school districts pay $7 million, and state employees pay the rest. Compretta, yes.

Writers Association sponsors first creative writing contest

The Gulf Coast Writers Association is now accepting entries for its 1989 creative writing competition. The contest is open to all writers and is being sponsored in conjunction with the first-ever Gulf Coast Writers Conference to be held April 1.

Contest categories are Fiction, maximum 3,000 words; Non-Fiction, maximum 3,000 words; and Poetry, maximum 36 lines. Entries must be original and unpublished. Manuscripts must be typewritten, double-spaced, on one side only of 8 1/2 by 11 paper, and must not contain the author's name.

A cover letter, with author's name, address, telephone number, category and title, should be placed in a sealed envelope with title only on the outside, and sent with each entry. Manuscripts cannot be returned.

The deadline is March 1. Entries must be mailed to Luri Owen, William Carey College on the Coast, 1856 Beach Drive, Gulfport, MS 39507. A $2 fee must accompany each entry.

Cash prizes of $15 for first place, $10 for second, and $5 for third will be awarded in each category. Winners will be announced and awards presented at a luncheon the day of the first-ever Gulf Coast Conference. The conference will also offer sessions in fiction, non-fiction and poetry; displays and exhibits by authors, bookstores, presses, and related businesses and services; and an open panel of writers, editors and publishers.

Fisheries Institute suggests 'Superbowl' menu

He's on the 40, the 30, the 20, the 10 and he's over. It's that time of year when happiness is spelled T-O-U-C-H-D-O-W-N! And, friends gather together for the excitement of Superbowl parties.

Kick off your Superbowl celebration with pre-game munchies. 'Clam Dip' with vegetables and 'Steamed and Spiced Shrimp' are just the ticket. One good strategy is to place a lot of shrimp and dip around the room for all to nibble during the game.

After the game, there is no need for guests to rush off. Let your team 'tackle' some hearty 'fifth quarter' fare as you recount the final moments of the game. 'Seafood Chowder' and 'Seafood Topped Mexican Pizzas' are sure to please all palates. Preparation is so simple you can relax and enjoy the company of good friends.

Throwing a Superbowl party can be a pleasurable experience with delicious rewards if your menu offers these quick and easy recipes from the National Fisheries Institute.

STEAMED AND SPICED SHRIMP

1 pound raw medium-size shrimp in the shell
2 teaspoons oil
1 tablespoon prepared seafood seasoning or recipe below
Coat shrimp with oil; toss with seafood seasoning. Place shrimp on a steamer rack over boiling water. Reduce heat and steam, covered, about 2-3 minutes or until bright pink and opaque throughout. Serve warm with your favorite spicy cocktail sauce. Makes about 40 pieces. NPS: P 147 C; 173 mg CH; 733 mg S.

Seafood Seasoning: Combine

1 1/2 teaspoons celery salt, 3/4 teaspoon paprika, 3/4 teaspoon dry ground mustard and 1/8 teaspoon ground hot pepper (cayenne). Makes about 1 tablespoon.

SEAFOOD TOPPED MEXICAN PIZZAS

12 thin 6-inch corn tortillas
1/2 cup canned enchilada sauce
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
8 ounces crab flavored surimi seafood, tiny cooked shrimp, crab meat or a combination of all three

1 can (2 1/4 oz.) sliced ripe olives, drained
1/4 cup sliced hot jalapeno chiles (nacho style)
1 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese

Spread enchilada sauce on tortillas and sprinkle with Cheddar cheese. Place on baking sheet and bake at 400 degrees 5 minutes or until cheese is bubbly. Arrange seafood, olives and jalapeno peppers on pizzas and sprinkle with jack cheese. Bake about 3 minutes or just until seafood is hot and cheese is melted. Serve hot. Makes 12 individual pizzas. Serve with your favorite hot pepper sauce. NPS: 182 C; 23 mg CH; 588 mg S.

SEAFOOD CHOWDER
1/4 pound finely diced bacon
2 large onions, chopped
4 cups diced thin-skinned potatoes, about 1 1/2 pounds
3 cups hot water
1 bay leaf
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground

black pepper
1/4 teaspoon thyme
1 pound firm-fleshed white fish, (cod, lingcod, rockfish, halibut or haddock cut into 1-inch chunks)

1 pound medium shrimp, shelled and deveined
1 quart low-fat milk.

In large kettle, saute bacon until crisp, about 5 minutes. Remove bacon and reserve. Add onion to drippings and saute until tender but not brown, about 5 minutes. Add potatoes, water, bay leaf, pepper and thyme. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer, partially covered, 10 minutes. Add fish, shrimp and milk. Simmer, covered, about 10 minutes or just until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork and shrimp is opaque. Remove bay leaf, add bacon and correct seasoning. Makes 8 to 10 (1 1/2 cup) servings. NPS: 323 C; 130 mg CH; 216 mg S.

CLAM DIP WITH VEGETABLES

1 can (6 to 8 oz.) minced clams
1 cup light sour cream
1 tablespoon minced fresh chives or 1 teaspoon dried chives

1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/8 teaspoon bottled hot pepper sauce

Whole chives for garnish
4 large carrots, cut into sticks
6 ounces Chinese pea pods, stems and strings removed OR 1 (8 oz.) package sugar snap peas, thawed.

Crackers (optional)
Drain clams, reserve clam liquid. Combine sour cream, minced chives, lemon juice and hot pepper sauce. Stir in clams and about 1 tablespoon of reserved clam liquid or enough to make a dipping consistency. Mix well. (Cover and refrigerate if made ahead). Garnish with whole chives. Serve with carrots and pea pods. Makes about 1 1/2 cups dip. NPS: 197 C; 168 mg CH; 153 mg S.

Note: NPS = Nutrition Information Per Serving; C = Calories; mg = milligrams; CH = Cholesterol; S = Sodium.

Income tax changes enter second year

Changes going into effect yearly by the Tax Reform Act of 1986 are calling for continued caution by tax preparers to ensure an accurate 1988 return is completed for the best results.

Changes going from 1987 to 1988 will not be as drastic as those made from 1986 to 1987, said Bob Martin, economist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. However, despite the attempt to simplify filing, two years of changes have tended to complicate the process.

Martin said even before the major changes, tax laws were complicated enough that professional help was highly recommended. With the new changes, professional help is almost a must, he said.

"Anyone who does his own taxes is likely to miss something that a professional would not miss," Martin said. "Probably the difference in what he pays the professional and benefits he would have missed will more than pay for the work."

He said an exception would be for those filing the simpler 1040EZ form with only 11 lines to complete. To file the 1040EZ, limitations include that a person must be single with no dependents, not be more than 65 or blind, not itemize deductions, earn under $50,000 and not receive interest of more than $400.

One area of notable change is in the amount of standard deductions. The standard deductions have increased from $3,670 to $5,000 for married couples filing jointly, from $2,480 to $4,400 for heads of households and from $2,480 to $3,000 for singles.

With the increased standard deduction figures, fewer itemized totals will exceed the amount for standard deductions. Itemized deductions include medicine expenses, home mortgage interests and charitable contributions.

"While each change in the tax law over the last five years has made filing harder, more people can fill out the shorter forms because of the increased standard deduction," Martin said.

The 1040A (short form) is for those who do not fall in the 1040EZ category and want to claim the standard deductions.

The 1040 (long form) allows space to itemize for those claiming more than the standard deduction for their situation.

Martin said one of the most common errors in completing a return is forgetting to sign the form, which results in a delay receiving refunds.

If filing a joint return, both people must sign the return, even if only one had an income. If someone other than the taxpayer prepares the return free of charge, the preparer should not sign the return.

Social security numbers for dependents at least five years old by Dec. 31, 1988, will be required on the forms this year. After 1989, this requirement will apply to dependents who are at least two years before the end of each tax year.

GOOD FOOD BUYS

Variety of 'light' foods available to consumers

Led by diet sodas, light beverages and light frozen entrees, diet food and beverage sales are growing at triple the rate of all foods, according to a recent study. Reduced-calorie and reduced-fat foods are the largest segments of a growing 'diet' market, the study found. According to the study, this market includes foods low in calories and foods low in such ingredients as sodium, caffeine or cholesterol, as well as high-fiber foods.

As demand for such foods increases and the number of available products multiplies, more consumers are asking questions about what constitutes a 'light' food. Light foods contain less of such substances as fat, sugar or alcohol and they are usually lower in calories. When 'light' is used in package labeling to represent a claim for weight control, these foods are expected to conform with regulations for low- or reduced-calorie foods.

Additionally, some foods are considered 'light' not because their ingredients differ substantially from non-light foods, but because they are packaged in servings small enough to limit the number of calories eaten by the consumer to an amount suitable for diet meal planning.

Calorie content is lowered in light foods by reducing the amount of high calorie ingredients and/or by substituting low-calorie ingredients for higher calorie ones. To reduce the calorie content of foods, one of the major components in food must either be reduced or eliminated.

It is generally understood that food has three major components—proteins, carbohydrates and fats. Constituting about 95 percent of the food supply, these ingredients provide the majority of the calories in food. Proteins and carbohydrates each contribute four calories per gram, and fats contribute nine calories per gram. As the most concentrated source of calories, fat is a primary target for elimination or reduction. Carbohydrates, which include sugars and starches, are a major source of calories in the average American diet and hence another important target for caloric reduction. Protein is not a significant target for caloric reductions in processed foods.

While these components of food are sources of energy and therefore play a critical role in the human diet, the food technologist pays careful attention to their functional values in food as well.

For example, sugar contributes not only sweet taste to food, but also provides texture and bulk in baked products. In addition, sugar reacts with heat to produce other flavors and colors in foods.

Oil and fat are traditionally used to suspend flavorings and spices in salad dressings, to provide a characteristic mouthfeel to certain foods, or to perform other functions in food preparation.

As a food is reformulated to reduce its caloric content, consideration must be given to the specific roles that fats and carbohydrates play. Taste, texture, moisture content, density, color, stability, volume—any of these characteristics may be affected by a change in the ingredients or in the proportion of the ingredients.

Advances in food technology have made possible the development of specialized ingredients which have some of the functional properties of sugar, starch or fat—without the high calories of these ingredients. In most cases, these specialized ingredients cannot totally replace the original constituent ingredients.

In many products, sucrose is replaced with a sugar substitute, such as saccharin or aspartame.

Low-calorie sweeteners have revolutionized the soft drink market, and some experts predict that diet soft drinks will constitute 50 percent of the diet food and beverage market.

In addition, the development of high fructose corn syrup (HFCS), a sweeter-tasting product than sugar, has opened up new opportunities to use smaller amounts of caloric sweeteners.

HFCS is especially useful in such products as soft drinks, jams and jellies and table syrups, in which most of the calorie load is due to added carbohydrate sweeteners.

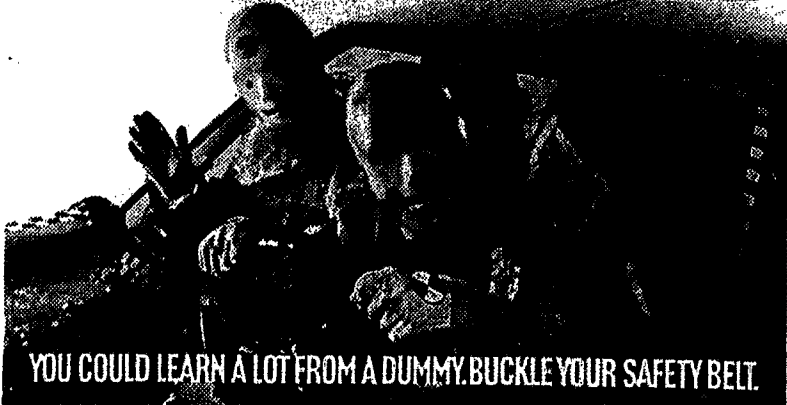

While specialized ingredients have helped to meet the growing demand for light foods, the caloric content of many light foods is reduced in more traditional ways.

Lower calorie ingredients are frequently substituted for standard ingredients in processed light foods (low-fat cheese as an example), are often reduced or eliminated in light foods.

Altered preparation methods can reduce calories further. For example, the amount and kind of cooking oil used to cook light foods often differs from that used to prepare standard foods.

With additional advances in food technology, an even wider range of light foods will soon become available to the consumer.

CEHS soccer team defeats All Saints

The Coast Episcopal High School Raiders soccer team returned to their winning ways by defeating All Saints Episcopal School from Vicksburg 4-0.

Scott Covode scored on a 'chip' shot to the goal after receiving a crossing pass from junior Billy Guice. Covode's goal was the only first half score.

Covode returned the favor early in the second half as Billy Guice scored on a 'dink' to the goal.

Eighth grader Nathan Guice scored twice in the second half on assists by junior Jamie

White and senior Justin Taylor. Goalie Hutson Lambert, junior, shut out All Saints.

Coach Paul Montjoy was extremely pleased with the Raiders' team play and singled out eighth graders Josh Adams, George Hlass, and Eric Williams for exceptional play. Montjoy also commended junior Rea Montjoy and senior Beau Lambert for their outstanding defensive efforts.

The Mississippi Private School Association State Soccer tournament is scheduled for the week of Feb. 14 in Jackson.

COMMUNITY

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, JANUARY 22, 1989-1B

SECTION B

Diamondhead Garden Club

The Diamondhead Garden Club met Jan. 18 at the Community Center. Reports of the recent board meeting given by Betty Claggett, club president, included announcement of a benefit style show to be held in conjunction with the Diamondhead Newcomer's Club at the Country Club on April 14.

Shamir models will display the fashions. Tickets are on sale for $12.50.

A request to help defray the cost of landscaping part of the exterior of the Kate Lobrano House (now the permanent home of the Hancock County Historical Society) was honored by voting to give $200 to the project. The Lobrano home will be on the Bay-Waveland Pilgrimage in April.

The Business and Professional Group is seeking donors of trees for planting in Diamondhead, and the Garden Club will give the price of two large trees.

The float to be entered in the Mardi Gras parade in Diamondhead was discussed by Dorothy Booth, chairman. This year a flatbed truck will be used instead of a golf cart.

Mary Cassis, Arbor Day chairman (and also fourth vice president of the Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs), discussed Arbor Day at Beauvoir on Feb. 10. The club has already donated a tree. John Davis, area horticulturist, will be featured speaker.

Program chairman, Ann Neff, said that on April 5 the club will have a field trip. They will go by bus to the New Orleans Zoo, have lunch at the Eiffel Tower and view the Nature Center before returning to Diamondhead.

Ways and means chairman, Margaret Arnos, reported that except for a few boxes of note paper, she had sold all of the club's allotment of Vision of Beauty calendars, Natchez furniture polish and 50 copies of the 'How Does Your Garden Grow' booklet.

Alice Brameyer, workshop chairman, gave a very informative talk on the horticulture section of flower shows—what not to bring, as well as what to bring.

Diamondhead Garden club will hold its annual flower show on March 28, with winning floral designs and ribbons displayed the next day at some of the homes on the Pilgrimage.

Garden of the Month Award was given to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Chetta.

The program was given by Judith Toups, one of the foremost authorities on birds. She presented a slide program titled 'Rare Birds of the Gulf Coast.' The slides were of dozens of birds rarely, if ever, seen locally.

Submitted by Ethel Evans, publicity chairman.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Gulf Coast CPAs

The next meeting of the Gulf Coast Chapter of Mississippi Society of Certified Public Accountants will be held Tuesday, Jan. 24, at the Biloxi Howard Johnson at 4:30 p.m.

William Fleenor, with the data processing department of Southeastern Louisiana University will present a program on the new SAS's. The program will qualify for two hours of continuing education credit. Non-members may attend for a fee of $20.

The Gulf Coast Chapter of MSCPA meets on the fourth Tuesday of each month. All members of the Mississippi Society of CPAs are invited to join the Gulf Coast Chapter. For information, contact Emily Suarez, secretary, 2517 S. Shore Dr., Biloxi, MS 39532 or telephone 374-0404 or 388-8958.

Medical Assistants

The Coast Counties Chapter of the Mississippi Society of Medical Assistants held their monthly meeting on Thursday, Jan. 12 at the Biloxi Blues Cafe.

President Gayle Grantham announced 1989 committee chairpersons as follows: budget and finance, Marie Reuscher; projects, Carolyn Harden; programs, Linda Loring; corresponding secretary, Sherry Goulette; chaplain, Carolyn Cumberland; membership, Judy Baumgartner.

Scholarship, Linda Loring; publicity and placement, Ann M. Larkin, CMA-A and historian, Lynn Gutterman, CMA.

Physician advisors for the year are Joseph R. Mitchell, M.D., Thomas Hewes, M.D., Alton Dautrive, M.D., Roger Reed, M.D. and Harold R. Rayner, M.D.

Coast Counties and Singing River chapters held a joint meeting at the Biloxi Hilton on Jan. 5 to discuss the 1989 State Convention which will be held in Biloxi on April 21 through 23.

The next meeting of Medical Assistants will be on Thursday, Feb. 9. Further information may be obtained by calling Sherry Goulette at 1-864-8049.

Learning Ladies

First meeting of 1989 for Learning Ladies Home Extension Club was Jan. 17 at the home of club president, Mrs. Helen Cazaubon. The president opened the meeting with the Homemakers Creed and Pledge of Allegiance.

The treasurer's report was given and new committee heads were chosen. Mrs. Tommie Ziegler reported on information from the council executive meeting on Jan. 4. Plans were made for homemakers' annual luncheon on Jan. 25 in the Coast Electric Crew Room at 10 a.m.

All homemaker club members, spouses and guests are invited to attend. Special projects for 1989 were discussed and several worthy causes were considered. They will be finalized at the next meeting.

Hostess, Mrs. Cazaubon, reinforced the definition of homemaker clubs. "The Extension Homemaker Club is an organization providing continuing education in home economics for adults. The goals of homemaker clubs are to help improve lifestyles as well as develop leadership capabilities and help homemakers become informed on public issues," according to Cazaubon.

For information on joining or organizing a homemakers club, please call 467-5456.

The meeting was adjourned by the president. A delicious array of wine and cheese was served. A demonstration on designing and making items from 'plastic canvas' was presented by Mrs. Charlotte Edwards.

On Dec. 20, Learning Ladies gathered at Chappy's Seafood Restaurant and celebrated with a luncheon and Christmas party. Eighteen members and one guest, Mrs. Joan LeBlanc, were greeted by 1988 president, Mrs. Charlotte Edwards.

Highlight of the day was the installation of 1989 officers. Taking office were Mrs. Helen Cazaubon, president; Mrs. Irma May, vice president; Mrs. Rose Gasser, secretary; and Mrs. Mary Werner, treasurer.

Canned goods and fresh fruit were brought and delivered to the Food Pantry. A cash donation by one member was also included.

A special gift was given to outgoing president, Mrs. Charlotte Edwards for a job well done.

Bay-Waveland Garden Club

The Bay-Waveland Garden Club held its first meeting of 1989 on Thursday, Jan. 12 at the Garden Center in Bay St. Louis. Mrs. Numa Snider read the devotion, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mrs. Thomas Tompkins, president, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Thomas Murphree who introduced the guest speaker, Dr. William Wolverton.

Dr. Wolverton, head of the environmental research department of Stennis Space Center, presented a slide show and talk on 'Foliage Plants for Improving Indoor Air Quality,' which was delightfully entertaining as well as extremely informative in helping us understand the purpose and benefits of the research being done by his department.

Upon departure of our guest, president Tompkins reported plans and preparations for the pilgrimage to be held on Apr. 6 are moving along on schedule. A flower show at the Garden Center is planned in conjunction with the pilgrimage.

Garden of the Month for Bay St. Louis goes to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Diboll, 304 Carroll Avenue, and for Waveland to Mrs. Fred Logan, 108 Lafitte Drive.

Library arrangements for January were placed in Bay St. Louis by Mrs. Richard St. Pe' and in Waveland by Mrs. Kenneth McKenna.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. David Los Calzo, chairman, and her committee, Mrs. Henry Brokmeier, Mrs. Russell Casey, Mrs. John Eble, Mrs. Frances McDonald, Mrs. Kenneth McKenna, Mrs. Robert Miller, and Mrs. Richard St. Pe'.

Members were advised to mark their calendars. In lieu of the regular meeting on Thursday, March 9, a trip to Honey Island Swamp is planned.

Hancock County Historical Society

The first meeting of this new year of the Hancock County Historical Society will be held Wednesday, Jan. 25 at noon at the Landmark Restaurant.

Nicholas McLeod Haas will be the guest speaker. Mr. Haas states that for this meeting he will 're-live' the community of McLeod, Miss., the McLeod family, and the McLeod Recreational Park. The public is invited to this dutch treat luncheon.

Dr. Larry Heller would like to remind past members and anyone interested in becoming a new member that dues for the year 1989 are $10.

Please contact Ruth at Ruth's Bakery, 467-8201, for more information regarding membership. Donations for furnishings for the society's historical home are still being accepted and are much appreciated.

LOCAL BRIEF

FENTON MEETING

The Fenton Civic Association and Neighborhood Watch is holding a special meeting 6:30 p.m. on Feb. 14 at the Fenton Community Center. A special guest speaker is scheduled for the meeting. For more information call 255-9385 or 255-1449.

NARFE MEETING

The monthly meeting of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees (NARFE), Buccaneer Chapter 1729 will be held January 27 at 11 a.m. at the Bay Waveland Yacht Club.

Speaker Frank P. Wittmann of the law firm of Wittman, Smeed and Ward will address the topic of "Wills".

For reservations, call M. Melson at 452-9356.

WAVELAND

Tops 233 met Jan. 17. Top loser of the week was Charlotte Tartavouille.

Meetings are held each Tuesday at the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue at 6:45 p.m. Weigh-ins begin at 6 p.m. until the meeting begins. For more information contact Joan after 6 p.m. at 467-0863.

The best outlook to start a diet is to be realistic in setting your weight loss goal. Try to get yourself into a positive cycle rather than one of failure. If you feel good about yourself there will be less tendency to overeat.

NEW OFFICERS of the Hancock County Historical Society for 1989 were recently installed by Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr. From left are, returning president Charles Gray, Dr. Larry Heller, publicity chairman; Meg Hilliker, first vice-president; Patt Cuculiu, secretary; Ruth Thompson, membership chairman and Frankiewicz. ### COPING WITH THE LOSS OF A LOVED ONE

Connie Podesta, Human Relations Consultant
Tuesday, January 24 / NOON

There are steps we can take to manage the emotions of our grief and to creatively confront the death of those we cared about. We will explore the four emotional stages: shock and anger, suffering and mourning, recovery and acceptance, and A NEW LIFE full of memories and new hope.

WOMEN OVER 40: MENOPAUSE SUPPORT GROUP

Fern Halford (Aptaker and Associates)
Thursday, January 26 / NOON

A group discussion for women anticipating or experiencing changes linked to menopause. These changes often cause discomfort or anxiety. Understanding such changes and being informed through participation in a support group promotes a positive attitude.

VAGINAL BIRTH AFTER A C-SECTION: A CHANGE OF HEART

Dr. Jason Collins, OB/GYN
Friday, January 27 / NOON

Delivery after a Cesarean Section is now acceptable. Dr. Collins will discuss the new National Policy from the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology regarding vaginal delivery after a previous C-Section. Patients that have attempted delivery will be in attendance to give their feelings about their experience.

THE DANCE OF ANGER

Claire Brew, B.A.
Wednesday, February 1 / NOON

This book review on The Dance of Anger by Harriet Goldhor Lerner will be a careful and compassionate exploration of women's anger. Claire Brew will discuss ways to show women how to turn anger into a constructive force for shaping their lives. Many of our problems with anger occur when we choose between having a relationship and having a self. This book is about having both.

All classes are free and are held in the Women's Resource Suite.

MRS. KEITH EDWARD VALENTI

Saint Rita Church in Harahan, La. was the setting for the Nov. 12 wedding of Lauren Louise Russo and Keith Edward Valenti Jr.

The bride's parents are Mrs. Janice Carver of Bay St. Louis and Mr. Leo J. Russo Jr. of Destrehan, La. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith E. Valenti Sr. of Harahan, La.

The altar was adorned with large bouquets of white gladiolus, chrysanthemums, pompons, and rubrum lilies.

Given in marriage by her father and mother, the bride wore a white satin gown adorned with Alencon lace. The basque bodice featured a sweetheart neckline, embroidered English net yoke and Mandarin collar. It was entirely hand beaded with iridescent sequins, seed pearls and bugle beads. The satin and lace 'leg-of-mutton' sleeves were accented with small bows and pearl dangles. Panels of beaded Alencon lace adorned the full skirt and cathedral-length triple petal train.

Her headpiece was fashioned of silk flowers and pearls. The full-length illusion veil cascaded from a pouf caught up at the back of her head.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white rosebuds, stephanotis and trailing greenery, topped with baby's breath, royal blue sweetheart roses and royal blue and white lace ribbon.

Mrs. Allyson Walsh of Destrehan served her sister as matron of honor.

Also serving as bridesmaids were Shari Blanton, Darlene Valenti and Antoinette Valenti, all of Harahan, La., Mrs. Dawn Garlepeid of Hammond, La., and Hazel Spiers of Bay St. Louis.

The attendants wore full-length gowns of royal blue satin. The basque bodice featured off-the-shoulder necklines, each accented with a large flounce, close fitting bishop sleeves and a double bow at the back.

They carried cascading bouquets with light blue tiger lilies, royal blue sweetheart roses and greenery topped with baby's breath and royal blue lace ribbon.

Best man was Scott Brown of Harahan.

Serving as groomsmen were Bert Greco, Louis Schwall, Alton Ostary Jr., all of Harahan, and Craig Kelley of Metairie.

Kellie Engelbracht of Metairie, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a wreath of royal and baby blue sweetheart roses accented with baby's breath and blue streamer ribbons and carried a white basket with matching flowers. She wore a sky blue frock adorned with a cascade of white lace ruffles in the back.

Nephews of the bride, Brandon and Brian Walsh of Destrehan, served as ring bearers and were attired in a nautical mode.

A reception followed the ceremony at Marie's Reception Hall in Harahan. Following a honeymoon in Gatlinburg, Tenn., the couple resides in Harahan, La.

Schott-Payne

Sherrie Lynn Payne became the bride of Vincent Arthur Schott in an evening ceremony December 18 at Longview Mansion in Lee's Summit, Mo. with the Reverend Don Sears officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hendrix of Waveland. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Vincent F. Schott, also of Waveland.

Nuptial music was presented by the Kansas City Stars Quartet.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown featuring a fitted bodice and sleeves embellished with beaded lace. The skirt was fashioned of bridal taffeta designed in two layered balloon tiers.

She carried a white marabou muff adorned with white roses and red ribbons.

Sheri Finn of Lee's Summit was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Delores Littlefield of Austin, Tex. and Colette Laughlin of Gulfport, sister of the bride.

Deret Laughlin of Gulfport, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

The attendants were identically attired in emerald green dresses, each with balloon hemline, long sleeves and off-the-shoulder neckline. They carried white marabou muffs adorned with holly and red roses.

Gary Schott of Los Angeles, Calif., brother of the groom, was best man.

Groomsmen were Alan Schott of Waveland, brother of the groom, and Mike Collins of Bay St. Louis.

Dalton Hendrix of Waveland, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Assisting at the reception which followed the ceremony were Jennifer Robertson of Kansas City, Mo. and Kristi Boenker.

The couple departed for honeymoon destination Lake Louise, Canada.

BALLROOM DANCING

Glamour, grace and skill -- they add up to one thing -- "Championship Ballroom Dancing."

Juliet Prowse hosts this 90-minute special, coming to Mississippi ETV at 9 p.m., Wednesday, January 25, and featuring world-class dance couples from 32 states, Mexico and Canada competing in one of the world's most dazzling dance extravaganzas.

This year two new divisions enter the competition -- American Smooth category, which features couples fox-trotting, tangoing and waltzing; and the American Rhythm competition, with couples performing the rumba, cha-cha, swing, bolero and mambo.

OUR CLASSIFIEDS ARE HERE FOR YOU!

And now when you use the coupon below you can save like never before on your classified ads by paying in advance!

HERE'S HOW:

- Write your ad message in the spaces below. Avoid abbreviations, for we cannot be responsible for misinterpreting any important words or phrases. Please use only one word for each space below. Any standard English word is considered to be one (1) word. Any price or phone number you list is also considered to be one word each.
- Include a phone number or address, so potential buyers can reach you.
- Ads are only payable in advance.
- $2.25 minimum for 15 words or less per issue. Over 15 words an additional 15¢ per word.
- Normal classified deadlines apply.
- We reserve the right to reject any ad copy we feel is questionable.
- We must have both your ad and your payment in advance.

Please be sure to use this coupon to take advantage of the special. Include your payment of 15 words per each issue you want your ad to run.
